

In the last time; threatened to tell her aunt, but did not do so, because she didn't wish to break up the happiness of the family; attempted to do the same after his wife's death.

Mr. Cushing—She understands the term.

Mr. Sheriff—Well, she may understand law better than you or I.

Mr. Cushing—She knows very little then. [Laughs.]

The Judge said the question was perfectly proper.

Witness—On New-Year's Eve of 1857, witness was at church up to 11 o'clock; she took sick and went outside; the sexton asked her if he should send for Mr. Stephens, and she said, "Send for any one;" Mr. Stephens assisted her home, and took off her bonnet and cloak in the rocking chair; she subsequently came to her bed and attempted improper liberties, and she screamed, and told him she would scream louder, so as to alarm the neighborhood, and he desisted. Her sister was then in church, but she did not notice her, as she was not aware she was there, the witness having gone to church alone, and Stephens had been present at the examination, and when she complained of a burning sensation in her chest and throat witness responded that she had been ill.

Mr. Sheriff—Well, she may understand law better than you or I.

Mr. Cushing—She knows very little then. [Laughs.]

The Court here adjourned.

N. Y. Wholesale Prices of Country Produce.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING MARCH 5, 1859.

(Reported exclusively for THE N. Y. TRIBUNE by BREW & FRENCH, Commission Merchants for the sale of Fruits and Vegetables, No. 105 Broadway, New York.)

BUTTER AND CREAM.—With large receipts of Butter and confined warm weather, the market is very dull, and has a somewhat downward tendency. We do not materially observe our figures, but butter has been in great demand.

The demand is restricted to immediate wants, nothing being taken for future use. Considerable shipments of Butter are being made to California, so that there is a good market for it there.

The quantity of Butter in the market has proved much greater than was generally supposed on the 1st January, and parties in the country who have held back their Butter, anticipating still higher rates, in May, will find themselves compelled to sell at a loss.

HOPS.—The demand is moderate for home use, at 26¢ per lb. for the better grades of 97%, and 14¢ per lb. for the poorer.

The market is quiet, and prices remain about the same.

WHEAT.—The shipping inquiry has not been so active, and with large arrivals prices have declined; sales of 1,100 bushels at 65¢ per bushel.
